WORK EXPERIENCE

Construction Industry

2017 - PRESENT

- I started working part time in construction during 2017 with my dad. Having that as a first job was definitely hard at first but once you get into the groove and you have the knowledge of what needs to be done, its pretty easy to manage from then on.
- Having to work with another person mostly relies on team work and being very precise which are to major factors in life if you are planning to work in an industry as such. For example, you are given a drawing on where a wall should be built and how it should look after it is finished. You have to be precise and you need to be skilled in teamwork if you want that wall to be finished by the deadline if not faster.

Structural Membrane Specialist (SMS)

2024 - 2025

- I decided to start working with one of my dad's friends during the summer break of 2024 which gave me an opportunity to gain experience at different job rolls in the construction industry. The first couple of weeks I sort of had it easy since I did not have the knowledge of a skilled SMS worker but I most definitely paid attention to what they were doing so that I can eventually do the same thing.
- After those couple of weeks I was granted the opportunity to travel to Wales for a job with the people that I was working with. It was a more challenging job than I anticipated but by the end even the boss of the company was happy with how I did because I was the only one that would go in the most tightest of spaces to make sure that the roof was waterproofed.
